

Former state Sen. John Eldridge of Augusta and Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton spoke against the amendment on nepotism. Eldridge said government shouldn't be deprived of the "expertise" of employees because of their relationship with a public official.

Harvey said he had "mixed emotions" about the proposal, but that he doubted it would go very far toward solving the problem.

Richard Arnold of Texarkana said, however, that nepotism was a plain example of conflict of interest. He said the convention's action in authorizing an increase in the salaries of legislators negated the argument that legislators needed to place their families on the state payroll to supplement their incomes.

Jim Brandon of Little Rock, a former state senator, said that in defeating Marion Crank, the 1968 Democratic gubernatorial nominee, and Bill Wells, the nominee for lieutenant governor, the voters had indicated their opposition to nepotism.

During the 1968 campaign it was revealed that both Crank and Wells had relatives on the state payroll while serving in the legislature.

The delegates also approved, without debate, two items dealing with natural resources. The vote on each section was 71-1.

One of the sections gives the General Assembly the power to enact laws for the conservation, development, management and use of the natural beauty and resources of the state. The other section establishes the right of the state in its interstate water resources and says the legislature shall be the "guardian and conservator" of the water resources of the state.

Word's Origin

The word "ghetto" is of disputed origin but it probably comes from a district in the city of Venice, Italy, where Jewish people lived in segregation about 1516. It was located near an iron foundry called the "ghetto," Italian word for casting.

Gambling Measure Rejected

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Constitutional Convention refused Tuesday to write into its proposed new constitution a provision that would permit forms of gambling other than betting on horses and dogs.

The delegates defeated a proposal by Lloyd Godley of Osceola that would have deleted from the proposed constitution a provision making lotteries and other forms of gaming illegal. The vote was 30-44.

This left untouched a provision that would permit pari-mutuel wagering on horses at Hot Springs and dogs at West Memphis. But this provision, when it came to a vote, fell one vote short of passage, 50-26. Reconsideration was given and it is expected to be approved later.

In other action, the convention defeated an amendment calling on the legislature to enact laws prohibiting nepotism by members of the General Assembly or any executive, judicial or public official. The vote was 23-47.

In arguing for his proposal, Godley said that to prohibit all forms of gaming except betting at Hot Springs and West Memphis "discriminates against every other community in the state."

The constitution "should not attempt to regulate the morals of the people of Arkansas," Godley said.

He said gambling was man's natural instinct. He said the provision prohibiting other forms of gambling would not be enforced. Godley said the convention delegates sometimes reminded him of the hypocrites in the song "Harper Valley P.T.A."

He said gambling was a legislative matter and shouldn't be included in the constitution.

But John Elrod of Rison argued that to prohibit all but betting on horses and dogs would earn the convention's

Newsman Inside of Biafra Startled by Misery and Chaos

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent
ONERRI, Nigeria (AP) — The first newsman allowed inside fallen Biafra saw famished refugees fighting for food, looting by Nigerian soldiers and heard several firsthand accounts of women being raped by victorious Nigerian troops.

The further the press party went inside former Biafran territory, the worse the conditions of hunger, homelessness and confusion became.

Everywhere refugees were on the road, teetering all their worldly goods on their heads, hunting lost husbands and children, trying desperately to change their Biafran money into Nigerian pounds to buy what food was available at little impromptu roadside markets.

A young British doctor, working in Nigeria less than two weeks, leaned his head against an ambulance and wept with rage.

"I've had Lugers stuck in both my ears," he sobbed. "My life has been threatened uncounted times by soldiers wanting to steal my trucks and ambulances. I'm not a doctor, I'm a bloody copper (policeman)."

The doctor said he had just returned from an open field where 80 to 100 wounded Biafran soldiers were "lying in their own piss and excrement, waiting for treatment that never arrived."

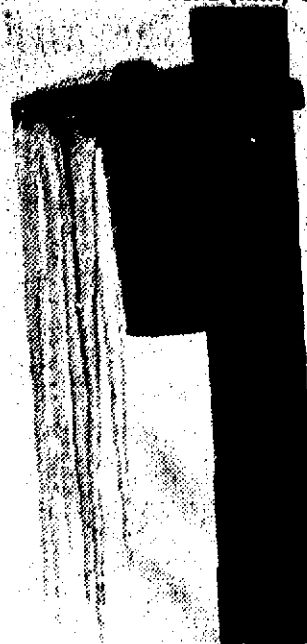

"They bloody well ought to be dead," he continued, "now I've got to go try and fix them up. Don't go near them unless you've got clothespins on your nose."

The doctor, from Colchester, "Doctor Phil," without naming the unit, he said the soldiers on duty in the area of the pediatric hospital at Okporo were "such monsters" he never let the nurses go anywhere without an escort, "especially white ones—the native nurses can always go bush if something happens."

"The young girls are afraid to come out of the bush, they are terrified of what will happen," he said. "I've never seen anything like this."

"My sister Bibi was taken off and raped by the soldiers," said a university student named Paul Ohagwa said. Two Biafran nurses who would only give their names as Theresa and Caroline said they were raped several times as they passed through roadblocks trying to make their way out of the bush.

Cong Shells U.S. Bases in Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong made their heaviest rocket and mortar attacks in 4½ months Tuesday night, shelling 51 allied bases and towns, the U.S. Command reported today.

The allied commands also reported that their troops and U.S. aircraft killed at least 127 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in half a dozen clashes along the Cambodian and Laotian borders.

About two thirds of the rocket and mortar attacks were in the 3rd Corps area from Saigon 100 miles north to the Cambodian border. About 25 of the attacks caused casualties or damage.

The U.S. Command said two American soldiers were killed and 23 wounded in the shelling. Light damage was reported, including shrapnel hits on some helicopters. Field reports said 16 South Vietnamese soldiers and 15 civilians were wounded.

American targets included the Army's headquarters for Vietnam at Long Binh and the Bien Hoa Air Base, both about 15 miles northeast of Saigon; the headquarters of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division 36 miles north of Saigon; and two brigade headquarters.

It was the largest number of rocket and mortar attacks since the night of Sept. 4-5, when 74 were reported.

Jobs Withheld From Israel Haunt People of French Village

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

CHATEAUDUN, France (AP) — Georges Provot, the freight agent, came out of the Cafe le Commerce after breakfast to give his horse the piece of croissant he hadn't eaten.

Suddenly the sound of jets tipped overhead across the murky sky. The horse shuddered and snorted, his breath unfurling in two smoky ribbons.

"There they go—there they go," said Provot with a chuckle. But he was wrong; the planes weren't Mirage fighters on their way to Israel in defiance of the government's ban on arms to the Israelis.

Israel paid for 50 Mirages before the 1967 Middle East war, then was denied them by President Charles de Gaulle's ban on arms to "active belligerents" in the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The jets used to be kept at Istres, a base northwest of Marseille near the Mediterranean coast. An edgy French government moved them 375 miles inland to Chateaudun, 85 miles southwest of Paris, after the Israelis slipped five embargoed gunboats out of Cherbourg harbor on Christmas Eve.

The planes are well guarded in an immense hangar near the southeast corner of the air base just outside town. From a plowed cornfield at Boirville you can make out two jeeps, each mounted with a machine gun, patrolling beside the closed hangar.

But you can't see the planes. You have to take the word of the townspeople and Israeli sources in Paris that they're there. The only jets in sight are a couple of trainers practicing landings and takeoffs.

Mayor Paul Gauchery looks like one of the taciturn men you see through the steamy cafe windows playing cards with their caps on. Short and thick, he wears a striped wool tie, a dark plaid flannel shirt and jacket and pants that don't match.

"The embargo is unpopular here," said Gauchery. "Ninety-five per cent of our people are for Israel. They're a brave people, the Israelis."

A man who has spent all of his life farming, Gauchery says the government's policy is bad business ("the Israelis paid for the planes") and bad morals ("you don't drop a friend like that").

Israeli mechanics and technicians used to be trained at the air base.

When the townspeople were asked to choose some foreign place to be "twinned" with, as Los Angeles and Paris are "twinned," they chose Upper Callee. Because of this commitment and their memories of Israelis stationed at the local base earlier, there was special interest in the Cherbourg affair.

"If they can do it in Cherbourg, maybe they can do it here," said a merchant. "We know how to keep our mouths closed."

'Small Tax' Approach to Pollution
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is expected to propose a "small budget" approach of user taxes, research and tax incentives to combat pollution — a program already drawing fire from Democrats and Republicans who demand more drastic action.

High administration sources disclosed Tuesday Nixon's State of the Union message Thursday will include the taxes and research proposals rather than expanded government spending and enforcement authority to clean up the environment.

As outlined by the sources, Nixon's program will fall considerably short of the federal initiatives, money and enforcement being suggested by some Congress members.

Officials said Nixon's "small budget" approach is expected to apply to efforts to stop air pollution and solve the problems of solid waste disposal. Some new federal funds may be asked to battle water pollution.

They said more research is needed "because we really don't know what pollution control equipment works yet." Tax credits would be aimed at stimulating industry's own action as against pollution, and user taxes would be proposed to help pay for clean-up.

Even as word of Nixon's program was emerging Tuesday, a bipartisan group of House members already was at work pushing a program running counter to the administration.

They sent letters to fellow congressmen urging appropriation of $1.25 billion in the next fiscal year to help build waste treatment facilities. The six representatives said a 1966 anti-pollution program deserves full funding and: "To do otherwise is to invite catastrophe."

Such funding was opposed last September by Secretary of Welfare Robert H. Finch who said federal outlays from general revenues for solid waste disposal facilities amount to subsidize for the polluter.

Finch figured in another major development on the environmental front Tuesday when he and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe announced 31 major airlines had agreed to make modifications on jet engines by 1972 to cut down on air pollution.

In a legal notice of the same issue, the School Board proposed a tax levy of 50 mills in their proposed budget of expenditures for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1971.

Israel Raid Jordan, Kill Guerrillas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AN ISRAELI AIRRAID FORCE crossed the Jordan south of the Dead Sea Tuesday night and returned for nearly 50 hours striking at Arab guerrilla bases, the Israeli military command reported today.

Jordan said there was a major battle and air battle.

The Israelis said their forces killed the guerrillas and captured 20 casualties or damaged. At-Fatah, the guerrilla organization, claimed its men killed two of the raiders and destroyed two Israeli tanks.

It was the longest Israeli penetration of Jordan since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Saudi Arabian forces stationed in the area joined Arab guerrillas and Jordanian Army units in battling the Israelis, an Al-Fatah communique issued in Damascus said.

A Jordanian spokesman said the Israelis threw in planes, tanks and artillery. Reports to Amman, 100 miles northeast of the battle area said the Israeli forces included about 40 tanks and half-tracks backed by heavy artillery.

Israel said the armored raiding force entered Jordan to guerrilla bases.

An Israeli spokesman reported five guerrillas had been killed and a number of Arab vehicles damaged in the "combined operation."

No Israeli casualties were reported.

A Jordanian spokesman said the Israelis invaded at 7 p.m. Tuesday, after an air raid in which one Jordanian civilian was killed and three others wounded.

The initial Israeli announcement did not disclose the size of the raiding force.

The military command in Tel Aviv said the operation was launched "following repeated attacks from Jordanian territory on the Dead Sea potash works at Sodom and on civilian settlements in the region."

The potash works were shelled Monday night. Israelis said the shelling attacks came from the village of Sali, a target of Tuesday night's raid. It is 2½ miles inside Jordan.

This same area of Jordan was hit last May 21 by an Israeli mortarized force which crossed the cease-fire line to destroy an Arab guerrilla base. That raid lasted almost eight hours.

In Northern Israel, meanwhile, informed sources in Tiberias said guerrillas in Jordan fired mortars and bazookas at four Israeli army outposts along the Jordan River in the Beisan Valley.

The sources said there were no casualties, and the Israelis did not return the fire.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. CHARLES M. WALKER, JR.

A January 3 event was the wedding of Miss Cynthia Ann Creel and Charles Maxfield Walker, Jr. The couple was wed in a 7 p.m. ceremony in Couch Chapel of First Methodist Church, Shreveport, Louisiana.

Mrs. Gurley Akron Creel and the late Dr. Creel of Shreveport are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Charles Maxfield Walker, Sr. and the late Mr. Walker of Hope.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Robert Buchanan Creel. She was attired in a candlelight peau de sole gown styled with an empire waistline of matching reemboiled lace, a scooped neckline and tescup sleeves. Her veil of candlelight illusion fell to a cathedral length. She carried a cascade of gypsophylla, stephanotis, fleurs d' amour and pale yellow roses.

Mrs. Woodrow Tyler Pirtle, Jr., sister of the bride from Dallas, Texas, was matron of honor and Miss Mary Lynn Turner of Shreveport was maid of honor. Other attendants were bridesmaids Mrs. Williams Luthre Brown of Palo Alto, California, Miss Miriam Raney of Little Rock, Arkansas; junior bridesmaid Miss Grace Annette Walker of Hope, and flower girl Miss Carol Lynn Creel of Houston, Texas.

Gold pseudo sole dresses fashioned with empire waistlines, puffed sleeves and sweetheart necklines were worn by her attendants. They carried muffs of green lemon leaves accented with a nosegay of bronze and gold flowers and moss green velvet streamers. Crowns of green lemon leaves were worn in their hair.

Completing the bridal party were Larry Mitchell Moore of Hope, best man; and John Winburn Key of Camden, John Johnson Wilson of Columbus, Arkansas, Thomas Daniel Boyette, of Washington, Arkansas, Woodrow Tyler Pirtle, Jr., of Dallas and Thomas Oliver Newton of Hampton, Ark.

After the wedding a reception was held in the church parlor.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "My Sweet Charlie," NBC's made-for-television film feature Tuesday night, was a venture that, in terms of story quality, calibre of acting and certainly in perception and meaning, was far out of the routine mold.

It has been a long time since the television production lines have turned out anything in the dramatic line that might be counted as a small classic. Certainly the vast majority of the movies-for-TV have been at best standard action shows which while diverting and well produced have been loaded with stock characters and had all the earmarks of B features.

But this two hour production was something else. It opened in deceptively leisurely style, showing a young girl—played by Patty Duke—obviously running away. Frightened and worried, she attempts a hitchhike, is given food by a friendly storekeeper and, caught in a storm, takes refuge in a closed summer house on the shore near New Orleans.

Eventually the girl, pregnant, is joined by another fugitive, a Northern black man, played by Al Freeman Jr. They gradually became companions in misery.

The black man, it turned out, was a successful New York lawyer who had come South to see the black-white confrontation himself and to "look for my roots." He joined a protest march, got into a fight and fled, thinking he had killed a white man.

The girl, casually educated daughter of a Southern farmer, began with all the traditional prejudices, gradually coming to appreciate the black man as an individual. It was a fine, pure relationship that, inevitably, ended in tragedy.

The performances of Miss Duke and Freeman were superb — sensitive and poignant. While it was essentially a story of a black-white relationship in a Southern background, it was even more a story of a human relationship and one without deliberate villains.

Gas Co. Malls Too Many Bills

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. sent out duplicate bills to customers in several Arkansas communities this month because of problems with its data processing system. The company advised customers receiving two identical bills to throw one away.

'Phone Rate to Increase at Bodcaw

Bodcaw will be placed in a higher telephone rate grouping in February, reflecting telephone growth in the exchange, Southwestern Bell announced today. These rate groupings were established by the Arkansas Public Service Commission in 1953 to provide that telephone exchanges of similar size and telephone development will have the same basic local rates. "Under the new schedule, residence rates will be adjusted a maximum of 50 cents per month and business rates a maximum of $1 monthly, not including taxes," Manager Jack Bayles of Southwestern Bell said. "The new rates will be reflected on the Feb. 25 bills."

The state-wide rate schedule established by the PSC provide that customers in larger exchanges pay somewhat higher rates than those in exchanges with fewer phones," Bayles added. "This is in keeping with the basic principle that the more telephones a customer can call without long distance charges, the more valuable his service. The plan treats all customers fairly, since they pay service, A city moves into a higher or lower rate groupings the number of telephones increases or decreases."

The Bodcaw exchange has been in Rate Group I (1-299 telephones) and the exchange now has more than 315 phones, placing it in Rate Group II (300-999 telephones.)

This, the Doldrums of the Year, Is a Time for Day-Dreams

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — These are the doldrum days of the year when the banners of the spirit droop at halfstaff. The slush in the streets matches the slush in man's mind.

The daily routine chafes. A fellow has the uneasy feeling he is slowly being covered with mold, and everyone wishes he were somewhere else and doing something else.

Well, why not? That's what daydreams are for—to let us travel in imagination to where we want to go and do what we want to do.

For example, all you have to do is lean back in a swivel chair, close your eyes, and in a trice you are—

Sitting in a vast elephant graveyard in Africa surrounded by millions of dollars worth of ivory tusks, all yours for the taking.

Peering into the lovesick eyes of a beautiful veiled Arabian princess as she strums a silver lute and sings you sad songs of desire.

Speaking to a joint session of Congress in behalf of the vast silent majority of Americans, who have chosen you to be their spokesman.

Being told sorrowfully by Gen. Custer you can't accompany him on his march to the Little Big Horn, as he must leave someone trustworthy behind to mind the store.

Stealing a huge ruby from the navel of a stone idol while chanting natives hail you as their new No. 1 god.

Opening a letter from the White House and finding it contains an invitation to dine with Pat and Dick next Wednesday. "P.S., don't forget to bring along your thinking cap," writes Pat. "We plan to play charades later."

Piloting an unknown young thoroughbred to a seesaw victory in the Kentucky Derby that hangs up a track record.

Saving a stricken young seaman's life aboard a submarine in a daring operation during which you give him two quarts of your own blood while sitting out his appendix. Having Brigitte Bardot write and ask if you'll be her pen pal so she can improve her English. The snapshot she encloses proves she has no need to improve her body English. Receiving a medal for valor for singlehandedly saving Ft. Knox from being overrun by a sudden attack by Mafia hoodlums. "And here's a couple of gold bars, too," says the commander. "You certainly earned them—and the nation won't miss them."

Dreaming you've bought control of the firm and telling the boss that now he works for you. However, if the boss comes by and catches you dreaming that particular daydream, you may find yourself back in the doldrums' real quick—and with no swivel chair you can any longer call your own.

Svetlana Loses Soviet Citizenship

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has revoked the citizenship of Svetlana Alliluyeva, daughter of Joseph Stalin, citing "acts defaming the title of citizen." But Mrs. Alliluyeva, who defected to the United States in 1967, said today she requested the action last July.

In a statement issued through her New York publisher, Mrs. Alliluyeva declared: "I am very happy that they have taken this step and that I no longer belong to the Soviet state and to Soviet society."

Mrs. Alliluyeva, who now lives in Princeton, N.J., said, "Last July my lawyers applied on my behalf to the Soviet consulate in Washington asking for legal renunciation of my Soviet citizenship."

She concluded her brief statement by noting, "As for Russian culture, literature, art and friends, no one could deprive me of them."

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

THE EDDY AMERICAN

Dear Mrs. Bottel: In answering the letter of the 19-year-old boy who argued with his father over the length of his sideburns (NOTE FROM H: plus other rigid restrictions), you made snide references to 1. Our Vice President and 2. The Conservatives of this country.

When the boy asked help in swaying his dad, you replied, "Could I persuade Mr. Agnew to lead a peace march?" Then you labeled the father a "rigid conservative."

How did our government leaders and "conservatism" get into the act? I have no doubt you are a "liberal," but why let your political and ideological prejudices creep into your column when there is no excuse for it?—H. H.

Dear H. H.: My so-called "snide reference" to our Vice President was no more than good natured kidding—all I allow myself in this non-political column. I'm sure Mr. Agnew would happily agree that I could never persuade him to lead a peace march.

The word "conservative" meant "not given to change" long before it became capitalized as a label for the "capitalized" right. No matter what his ideological prejudices, the man in question was rigidly conservative in his attitude toward his family. Really, I don't give a hang about his party line!

And you, my friend, are a very edgy American. Why not sweeten your politics with a pinch of humor?—H.

Dear Helen: My husband has gotten involved with a girl 21 because she makes him feel young. He's 35, the father of six. I have kept myself attractive and loving. He admits he loves me best, but thinks he wants both of us. He hates psychiatrists who say a little adultery helps a marriage but I don't know. Would it really help if I too had an affair?

A friend of his is urging me to. He says, "Why not? It's stupid to be faithful when your mate isn't." I'm sure my husband would be shocked green and I think it would just make me all the more miserable. What to do?—REJECTED AND POSITIONED

Dear R and P: Why don't you ask your husband how he'd feel about your having an affair? It just might shock him green enough to black out the 21-year-old charmer.

If this doesn't work, I'll bet the threat of leaving him would —especially if you announced he and his "new wife" would have complete custody of the children!—H.

Dear Helen: I weigh 155 pounds and am gaining. As I'm only five feet five, you can see I fit the labels my husband gives me. So far he is good-natured about it, but one of these days he'll stop calling me butterball and start with larg-gut.

My trouble is I just can't resist food. I have to fix good meals for the family, and as long as the goodies are in the house, I gravitate to the refrigerator. Before marriage I did not have this problem, as I was working, bathing, and just did not buy food. Can anyone offer suggestions?—GETTING TUBBY

Dear G.T.: ... And the weak shall inherit the earth! How about printing this slogan and taping it to your refrigerator?

Then—sharpen up your "won't power" with the memory of your single days when you felt slim and energetic because you were always a little bit hungry. Learn to enjoy those small hunger pangs and you won't be tempted by fattening between-meal snacks.—H.

Tim Manning to Succeed McIntyre

By PATRICK O'KEEFE

Associated Press Writer VATICAN CITY (AP) — James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, known as the arch-conservative of the American Roman Catholic hierarchy because of feuds with liberal nuns and priests, has retired as archbishop of Los Angeles, the Vatican announced today.

Pope Paul VI accepted the resignation of the 83-year-old cardinal for reasons of age. The cardinal had served his archdiocese as archbishop of the archdiocese, one of the largest in the United States, would be Archbishop Timothy Manning, formerly bishop of Fresno, California, and now coadjutor bishop in Los Angeles with the right of succession.

A young California priest studying in Rome described Archbishop Manning as "very capable and more moderate" than Cardinal McIntyre. GE Strikers Reject Co. Wage Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — The two unions representing the bulk of 133,000 employees striking the General Electric Co. cited the latest government cost of living figures Tuesday as justification for rejecting company offer.

General Electric declined to comment on the statement of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) and the unaffiliated United Electrical Workers (UE).

Instead, a spokesman for the company said the matter had been discussed frequently at the bargaining table, undoubtedly would be again, and that management regarded that as the proper place for comment.

The union statements were made by John H. Shambo, IUE-GE conference board chairman, and Joseph Turkowski, secretary of the UE-GE conference board, following a Federal Labor Statistics Board report that the national index of consumer costs rose 6.1 per cent during 1969.

"The latest, shocking cost of living figures are just not statistics," Shambo said. "To GE workers they mean less meat on the table, less opportunity for children to get the kind of education they are capable of, hopes for better housing postponed and a bleaker retirement ahead."

"They point up the cruelty in GE's talk about fighting inflation when the fight would be waged by those already its chief victims. They are further justification for the union's proposals. They are further evidence of the inadequacy of GE's offer."

Turkowski declared that the new government figures "show how unreasonable and completely out of touch with reality are General Electric's proposals."

"This is why an adequate cost of living clause is a key economic issue in this strike," Turkowski concluded. "An agreement without it would condemn the GE workers to economic disaster."

Members of the two unions earned an average base wage of $3.25 hourly prior to the start of the strike Oct. 27. The walkouts have crippled most production at GE plants in 135 cities across the nation.

The initial offer included up to 25 cents hourly premium for workers and special skills but left the economic terms for a second and third contract year subject to reopeners. The second offer retained the first year terms and added for each of the final two years a proposed 3 per cent wage increase and up to 2 per cent in living cost adjustments.

last Friday by Henley on that charge.

Henley said in accepting Morgan's plea Tuesday that he was "well aware of the fact that in applying the telephone as he admittedly did, Mr. Morgan was acting under the direction of another."

While this alone didn't absolve Morgan of guilt, Henley said, it was a "mitigating circumstance" that he would take into consideration in imposing punishment.

The judge said Morgan was "in a position in which it was very easy for you to be led by another person in participation in this series of crimes."

Ex-Trusty at Tucker Is Fined

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley Tuesday fined a former Tucker Prison Farm trusty $500 and placed him on one-year probation on charges of imposing cruel and unusual punishment on inmates.

William James Morgan, 31, of North Little Rock, the former trusty, had pleaded no contest to five Grand Jury indictments that he imposed the punishment with the so-called "Tucker Telephone."

Morgan, Tucker hospital attendant from 1963 until his parole in April 1966, had testified that he had used the Tucker Telephone to punish inmates on the orders of former Tucker Supt. Jim Bruton.

Bruton was acquitted earlier on eight indictments alleging cruel and unusual punishment of inmates. He pleaded no contest to a charge that he ordered the Tucker Telephone to be used on two inmates. He was fined $1,000 and given a one-year suspended prison sentence.

Europe Leads U.S. in Hip Operations

CHICAGO (AP) — Replacement of diseased hips with artificial devices has proved successful in Europe, but it's going to be a while before this becomes a routine operation in the United States.

The reason is that the cement to hold the devices in place has not yet been approved for this use by the Food and Drug Administration.

Restrictions are not so severe in Great Britain, where most of the work on artificial hips was done, and continental European countries. Thousands of these operations have been performed there over the past decade.

Two dozen U.S. research institutions have been granted permission to use the artificial hip requiring a special cement and several hundred hip replacements have been done in this country.

Dr. Mark B. Coventry, head of the department of orthopaedics at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., said at a news conference Monday there is no indication as to when the fast-setting cement, called methyl-methacrylate, will become generally available.

Dr. Coventry was moderator of a symposium on surgery and hip disease at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Orthopaedics.

He said he strongly approves the FDA restrictions, and called attention to past difficulties which have resulted from too early approval of drugs.

European surgeons have had no problems with the cement used in the hip surgery, Dr. Coventry said. The concern in the United States has been that the cement might degenerate and cause cancer, he said.

Today's hand is a cinch for five hearts provided declarer remembers to ruff a diamond in dummy. Let's look at George Gooden's teaching technique.

He starts by explaining why the South hand should be opened one heart. It has 17 high-card points but you should never open no-trump with a singleton. For suit purposes it is worth 19 points because of the two distributional points for a singleton. It is a good hand but too weak to open with two. You open one heart because with two biddable suits of unequal length you should open the longer one.

The North hand is worth eight points in support of hearts and with adequate trump support is a proper raise to two. South has enough to go right to game. Remember, 26 points is the normal requirement for a 10-trick suit game.

South looks over dummy and counts five trump tricks, one diamond trick and three or four club tricks depending on whether or not the club suit will break 3-2.

Can he get an extra trick in the trump suit? He can ruff some spades in his own hand but this isn't going to give him any extra tricks since he will be ruffing with a normal trump trick. On the other hand, if he can ruff some card in dummy he will be collecting a sixth trump trick and he can ruff a diamond there provided he does not pull trumps.

Hence South wins the first heart in dummy; plays ace and another diamond and ruffs his last diamond in dummy the next time he gains the lead.

Eastern All-Stars Win 4-1

By PAUL LE BAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Chicago Blackhawk golden boy Bobby Hull called the coaching of Montreal's Claude Ruel a key factor in Tuesday night's 23rd National Hockey League all-star game, a 4-1 walkaway for the Eastern division.

Except for a moment at the outset, Hull and the East far outclassed the West, which was pressed to launch 17 shots to a record 44 for the winners.

A looping shot from the blue line of Pittsburgh's Dan Prentice with 37 seconds gone and spectacular relief goal tending by St. Louis' Jacques Plante kept things respectable.

The goal by Prentice, his second in four all-star games, tied the score at 1-1 before powerful East lines spearheaded by Hull and veteran Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings took command.

Howe scored the tie-breaking goal at 7:20 of the opening period on a power-play pass from Hull, and second period goals by Hull and the New York Rangers Walt Tkaczuk capped the offense.

The 41-year-old Plante, called on to relieve bedazzled Bernie Parent of Philadelphia midway in the second period, gave an all-star record crowd of 16,587 its only cause for cheers over the final 30-minutes.

Plante, Hull and swift skating Boston defenseman Bobby Orr were named the game's stars.

Marciano Beats Clay on Computer

By LEE LIDER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Cassius Clay lost a computerized fight to Rocky Marciano but he didn't lose his sense of humor, his penchant for challenging poetry, or his verbal jabs at rival heavyweight Joe Frazier.

The film, staged before Marciano's death last year and screened in some 500 movie houses Tuesday night, showed Clay a 13th round knockout victim.

"It takes a good champion to lose like that," Clay told a newsman who had sat next to him in the darkened theater and had taken a couple of right elbow jabs in the ribs as the deposited heavyweight watched the action.

"Hey, watch that," said the worried newsman, a flyweight in size. "I'm not in the ring with you."

"Yeah, but that's fighting up there, and real good camera action," Clay replied, laughing. He sat in his shirt sleeves, his suit jacket held by his wife and a friend sat on his left trying to catch every one of his words on a tape recorder.

In the early rounds Clay took the lead. He said he was only watching the action — but he kept his eyes intently on the screen, sometimes rocking in his seat, his head often bobbing forward as he threw a punch.

"I'm sorry Rocky wasn't here to see it," Clay said. "He wanted to see it bad. You know there were seven different endings, and I had won twice by knockouts. I didn't know how it was going to come out, but that computer must have been in Aalabama."

When Clay was counted out, he slumped just a little in his seat. Then he called out to the crowd of more than 400 already starting for the exits in the downtown Stanley Theater: "All right, now let's see the real fight."

Clay, signing autographs willingly, seemed to enjoy the crowd that pressed around him, slapping his back, grabbing at his big hands.

Michigan State Has a Pistol Pete

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
There's a super-shooter waiting off stage in college basketball ready to step into the shoes of Pistol Pete Maravich next season.

The new super-shooter is Ralph Simpson, already tagged as a sugar soph for Michigan State. He is expected to come into his own as a junior after Pistol Pete, the country's No. 1 collegiate scorer, graduates from Louisiana State in June.

Simpson, 6-foot-4½, who prepped a Detroit Pershing High, demonstrated his talents Tuesday night against Notre Dame, ranked 20th nationally in The Associated Press poll.

He scored 35 points on 12 field goals and 11-of-12 free throws to lead Michigan State to an upset 85-82 victory over the Irish.

"He's a real super-shooter," said Johnny Doe, the Notre Dame coach, after the game in Michigan State's Jensen Field House in East Lansing, Mich. "He's going to be an excellent player before he's through."

Austin Carr of Notre Dame, the nation's No. 2 scorer behind Maravich, took high game scoring honors with 39 points. But it was Simpson who scored the vital points. His basket broke a 42-42 tie early in the second half and put the Spartans ahead for good.

NBA Stars in Victory Over West

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — On display next summer at the Willis Reed All-Star Basketball Camp will be a trophy proving that it's what's up front that counts.

It will serve as a reminder to the teen-age boys present that instructing them in the finer points of the game is one of the best up front—Willis Reed.

Reed already has proved it to some 15,000 persons in Philadelphia's Spectrum and to a national television audience by leading the East to a 142-135 victory over the West in the National Basketball Association All-Star game Tuesday night.

The muscular 6-foot-8 center of the New York Knicks scored all of his 21 points and hauled in 11 rebounds as the East pulled away to a 106-85 advantage entering the final period. The West made one last effort that got it within six points with two minutes left before falling back.

For his efforts, Reed was voted overwhelmingly the Most Valuable Player in his sixth All-Star game that increased the East's lead over the West to 14-6.

"The game was decided at center," agreed Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and the East, who was runnerup in the MVP balloting after scoring 21 points that gave him a record 230 for All-Star competition.

"You saw what happened. They just can't stop those two, offensively and off the boards," he r.ferred to Reed and 7-2 Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee, who had 10 points and 11 rebounds and gave the East the 1-2 center punch that had made them the favorites in the absence of injured Wilt Chamberlain and Nate Thurmond of the West.

"Reed is the toughest center in the league right now," praised Elvin Hayes of San Diego, who scored 24 points and had 15 rebounds as the West's big man.

Cleveland's Nick Mileti and Portland's Harry Glickman both left town abruptly after the all-day owner's expansion meeting and announcement, not bothering to stay for the East's 142-135 victory over the West Tuesday night.

NBA Votes for 4 Team Expansion

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National American Basketball Association, has decided to add four new cities next season. Now the question is can the cities afford the NBA's other additions?

Aside from voting 12-2 Tuesday to expand into Cleveland, Buffalo, Houston and Portland, Ore., the NBA owners also reportedly added some $500,000 to the entrance fee per franchise, raising it to something like $3.5 million.

Another addition to the price of belonging to the NBA is believed to include a term that would give the new city little of the television money.

"There is a good chance four teams will be added," said NBA administrative assistant Carl Scheer, making the expansion announcement for President Walter Kennedy, who was suffering from laryngitis. "The terms and conditions are being discussed and will continue to be discussed with the applicants."

"The owners will reconvene in a special meeting in the next two weeks when a formal announcement will be made."

While the five hopefuls—Buffalo has two bidders—came to the pre-All-Star game meeting ready to fulfill earlier conditions, several and possibly even all five, might not be willing to surrender to the new prerequisites.

Cleveland's Nick Mileti and Portland's Harry Glickman both left town abruptly after the all-day owner's expansion meeting and announcement, not bothering to stay for the East's 142-135 victory over the West Tuesday night.

Women's Rights

In spite of general disbelief among women, there are some men who believe in doing away with the double standard and giving today's emancipated women total equality. Consider the state of Texas, which is one of the few states left with a paramour law.

Under the paramour law, a man is entitled to shoot his wife's lover if he catches them in an indiscreet act. A few years ago, a Texas lawmaker introduced an "equal shooting bill" in the state legislature. The new bill would give women the right to shoot their husband's mistress if she caught them.

However, the bill was quickly defeated by many frightened legislator-husbands. — Montgomery (Ala.) Alabama Journal.

A Winner

Not every battle in the War on Poverty has been lost, though setbacks always command large headlines. One sparkling success story is Green Thumb Inc., a public works project for men over 60 with agricultural backgrounds who are willing to work three days a week for $1.60 an hour. It had a modest beginning in Arkansas in 1966 and has spread to Oklahoma and 13 other states. The program is funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity and provides highway beautification, park and other public works jobs.

By almost any yardstick, Green Thumb measures up as a success story. In fact, many of the men who went to work on Green Thumb projects have been hired away by private employers impressed with their ability and hard work. Not only has the program helped some of the country's elderly poor, it has provided cities and towns with such worthwhile facilities as picnic tables, toilets, fireplaces and floral gardens.

The Oklahoma program is under the direction of Oklahoma Farmers Union. For many of the participants, the opportunity to earn up to $1,500 to supplement their small incomes means the difference between grinding poverty and getting by. The program also proves that the difference between guaranteeing a man a job and guaranteeing him an income is the difference between pride and indolence.

As one elderly Green Thumb member told a reporter: "Kinda like the old WPA days. Back in them days we built a lot of things. Bridges, court-houses, roads — you name it, we build it. 'Made work' they called it, but... we at least gave 'em their money's worth." — Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune

Cold Will Continue in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light snow flurries lingered in Central Arkansas Tuesday night and early today as a cold front pushed through the state.

Light snow developed during the night in northern and central areas of the state but accumulation was small. Scattered snow flurries were forecast for tonight in Northwest and Northeast Arkansas.

Several schools in northern areas were closed again today because of icy roads.

Temperatures were expected to remain cold for the next few days due to a Canadian air mass that moved into the state late Tuesday.

The forecast calls for considerable cold and a few light snow flurries late Tuesday or early Wednesday. The low tonight will range from 10-22.

Highs Tuesday ranged from 39 at Texarkana to 21 at Harrison.

Bank Rates Increased to Aid Housing

By BILL NEKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to put more money into circulation for the hard-hit housing industry, two federal agencies have cleared the way for substantial increases in the maximum interest rates banks can pay on savings deposits.

In addition to helping the housing industry, Tuesday's action by the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation was designed to bring commercial and mutual savings banks into keener competition for the investor's dollar.

The announcement was made after a week of almost daily meetings between the Fed, the FDIC and the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, which is expected to authorize higher rates for savings and loan associations as well.

The Fed and FDIC boosted the maximum rates on bank savings deposits from 4 to 4½ per cent, the first change since Nov. 24, 1964.

On single maturity time deposits of less than $100,000, the two agencies authorized banks to pay 7½ per cent interest on one-year securities and 5½ per cent on two-year securities. A 5 per cent rate had previously been in effect.

A new ceiling of 7½ per cent was set on time deposits of $100,000 or more. The rate for such deposits left for six months to one year was increased to 7 per cent, while those left a year or more will be eligible for the highest rate.

College Head for Sales Tax Hike

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Silas D. Snow, president of State College of Arkansas, said today a one-cent increase in the state sales tax was needed "to move the state forward on all fronts."

"We would support widening the base of the sales tax and also closing some loopholes," Snow said.

He expressed hope that a special session of the legislature would maintain "the high priority of high education" and provide financial relief through increased revenues.

Snow said SCA was operating this year about $1 million below the minimal level recommended by the state Commission on Coordination of Higher Education.

He said revenue from proposed tax legislation would raise the funding of all state-supported colleges and universities to the level recommended by the CCHER.

Attack on Pill Is Continuing

By R. L. SCHWARTZ III

WASHINGTON (AP) — A trio of doctors continued the medical onslaught against oral contraceptives today with more congressional testimony about suspected links between the pill and high blood pressure, strokes and fatal blood clotting.

Although none produced any hard new evidence of danger in their prepared testimony before the Senate monopoly subcommittee, all three urged caution in the use of the pill.

And one called for government support of massive research at once.

Dr. Trice at C.C. Banquet

One of the largest crowds in years to turn out for the annual Hope-Hempstead County Chapter of Commerce banquet—577 persons—heard a witty address from a charming woman educator Tuesday night at Fair Park Coliseum.

The speaker was Dr. Ethel Preston Trice, chairman of the Division of Health, Education, Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, at the University of Arkansas. She was introduced by Municipal Judge John L. Wilson, member of the Board of Trustees of the University.

While an exponent of good health and an active, useful live, Dr. Trice admitted to moments of frustration.

"Sometimes," she said, "I find myself wishing I were back teaching in Junior High School—you know Junior High, where the girls are too old to be Brownies but too young to be Bunnies."

Her explanation of today's student frustrations on the big campuses: "The larger the school the more the student tends to lose his identity."

Of America's good health: "The real worth of physical exercise and good health is best demonstrated by our deficiencies—such as this statistic: U.S. males have five times the incidence of heart cases that

First Flight of Jumbo Jet Due Today

NEW YORK (AP) — A new era in mass transportation begins today with the first commercial flight of a new breed of planes, the Boeing 747, a 382-seat jumbo jet.

The first flight, by a Pan American World Airways jet, is scheduled to fly from New York to London in six hours and 25 minutes. It departs at 7 p.m.

The plane, to be commanded by Pan American's chief Atlantic pilot, Capt. John M. Weeks, 49, of Setauket, N.Y., will initiate daily 747 service from New York to London and back.

The plane has been christened "Young American," by Mrs. Richard M. Nixon, Pan American calls it the "largest airplane ever designed for commercial service."

The inaugural flight today is expected to be followed shortly by a number of regularly scheduled international and domestic runs by jumbo jets, Boeing says 185 of the planes are on order.

The huge jets, quieter and 50 miles an hour faster than Boeing 707s, have an over-all length of 231 feet, 4 inches and a wing span of 195 feet. They cost about $21 million each and cruise about 625 m.p.h.

The 747 carries 58 first-class economy passengers under the Pan American seating plan, but can carry up to 491 passengers under different arrangement.

Army to Be Cut Back to Kennedy Era

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some key Pentagon planners forecast the Army will be cut about three divisions below current authorized strength by 1972 as the United States gradually sheds its "policeman to the world" role.

This reduction, to 14 and two-thirds divisions, would carry the Army almost back to where it was when the Kennedy administration took over nine years ago.

Some planners predict the Army will be down to 11 or 12 divisions within three years.

This, it is believed, will be accompanied by a gradual pull-back of most U.S. troops from South Korea and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization area, as well as disengagement from Vietnam.

Army and Marine leaders believe that over the next several years, this country's ground forces will be concentrated in a U.S.-based central reserve, to be sent abroad only where preeminent interests are at stake.

Ground force generals feel this will lead to greater reliance on nuclear weapons, particularly big strategic missiles, to safeguard the nation.

This recalls a debate in the late stages of the Eisenhower administration.

Democratic critics and some Army generals claimed then that an emphasis on massive retaliation starved the conventional military forces and gave the nation little choice between all out atomic exchange and humiliation.

So the Kennedy administration not only accelerated the growth of U.S. missile power but also increased American conventional forces. It boosted the number of Army divisions from 14 to 18.

But the national strategy aims were different then. Robert S. McNamara, then secretary of Defense, told Congress in January 1962 this country's nonnuclear land, sea, and air forces had to be strengthened "if we are to have the capacity to respond promptly to limited wars in any part of the globe, and possibly in more than one place at the same time."

The Nixon administration, with the Vietnam war experience shaping its direction, aims to minimize commitment of U.S. ground forces abroad in the future.

Compromise on Education Bill Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today delayed a veto showdown with President Nixon by returning to the House, for settlement of a side issue, a disputed, $19.7 billion appropriation bill.

The budget-raising health and education funds which drew the White House veto warning were not at issue; both Senate and House have agreed on $1.86 billion in spending that Nixon opposes.

On a 47 to 40 roll call vote, the Senate backed Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., in his demand that Congress earmark for specific programs the nearly $2 billion that the bill appropriates for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The House version left it to the poverty agency to allocate money to its various programs.

The appropriations amount is not involved.

Now it will be up to the House, to either accept the Senate earmarking terms, or reject them and seek a new negotiating conference on that issue alone.

The crucial vote on the long-delayed appropriation bill was the 74 to 17 tally by which the Senate Tuesday approved the spending levels Nixon has challenged as inflationary.

Meanwhile, the White House, facing stiff Republican resistance to the threatened veto, was beginning to talk compromise.

Assurances have been given to key GOP members that if Congress upholds a Nixon veto of the appropriation because it goes $1.2 billion over his budget, he will accept a lesser increase in a new bill.

The case for compromise was strengthened Tuesday when the Senate voted, 74-17, in favor of the $19.7 billion appropriations bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare. The bill covers the current fiscal year that started last July 1.

Despite the clear warning of a veto and vigorous administration efforts to build support for it, 21 Republicans voted for the bill and only 17 against. The vote was 13 more than the two-thirds required to override a veto.
